These "variety rice" recipes are perfect lunch box recipes too. You can find many one-pot recipes made in a stove-top pressure cooker or Instant Pot. Also, some recipes with leftover rice. You will also find recipes with other grains like quinoa (quinoa sambar sadham) and millet (millet kootanchoru). I will add more recipes with other grains like steel-cut oats, barley, buckwheat, etc. So stay tuned. The recipes have detailed instructions and stepwise pictures, so making any of them is a breeze and a fun, yummy process to enjoy with your family and friends. Come back for more recipes regularly, and do let me know which dish is your favorite on social media! :-)) Archana Doshi On Tuesday, 07 April 2020 11:40 Rice is a staple food across India and many countries. One of the most innovative ways we can use rice apart from having it plain is to flavour it up with vegetables and spices giving it not just taste but nutrition as well. Southern India makes a lot of rice based dishes - and more often than not, these variety rice recipes are made from leftover rice - from Puliyo dharai, Lemon Rice, Coconut Rice, Mushroom Rice, Tomato Rice, Keerai Sadam, Beetroot Rice and many more. These South Indian Variety rice based dishes can be served along with a pachadi also known as raita in northern india. Some of the classic Pachadi is curd which is combined along with onion, green chillies and salt.
